EMERGE TAMPA BAY TO HOST NEW IDEA SUMMIT, "TOMORROW'S TAMPA"

Industry leaders and Emerge Tampa Bay members will join forces to spark ideas for Tampa's future

Tampa, Fla. — September 30, 2014 — What do the leading voices have to say about the future of the city? Emerge Tampa Bay is giving young professionals the unique opportunity to weigh-in on the discussion.

On Thursday, October 2nd, the group will host Tomorrow's Tampa: An Idea Summit to develop a plan for the city's future through educational sessions and open discussions. The event will be hosted from 5:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m. at District 3 event space downtown.

Tomorrow's Tampa will be opened with keynotes by Mayor Bob Buckhorn and Mickey Jacob, FAIA, BDG Architects.

Emerge members will co-facilitate sessions in partnership with industry leaders. Attendees will be able to attend discussions on an array of topic such as Channelside developments, downtown progress and transportation. The group encourages members and interested guest to come ready to share their ideas about the future development of Tampa.

The event is presented by TuckerHall, Grow Financial and Webster University.

Tickets are $15 for Emerge members, $25 for non-Emerge members and $25 for all guests at the door, pending availability. Register online to reserve your spot at www.tampachamber.com.

Location: District 3, 812 East Whiting Street, Downtown Tampa, FL 33602
